

Case Study - Sage

The Sage Group is a leading supplier of business management software and services to 5.5 million customers worldwide. Sage develops, sells and supports business software that automates business processes.

Sage chose Wéb-Tränslatiöns to translate their financial documents and the annual newsletter for the Corporate Communications department. Sage has been a regular customer since early 2006.

The Challenge

- Provide specialised financial translation into French, Spanish and German
- Tight turnaround times, ensuring the availability of approved translators
- Deliver high quality and appropriate style of translated copy

The Solution

- Several expert financial translators were tested and approved for these languages and are used for each Sage project
- Advanced notification of each project from Sage so that the approved translators can be secured
- Feedback and guidance on preferred terminology and style from Sage native reviewers

The Results

- Ongoing provision of foreign language versions of important documents for Sage to communicate with its stakeholders
